The Bethel charrette is an intense, interactive work session lasting five days. In that period, designers and consultants will produce multiple plans based on differing scenarios, examining the implications of each.

Input of different disciplines, the public, and key decision makers will help identify the best scenario for Bethel: the BETHEL FORWARD plan.

The charrette is open to the public. Residents can choose to drop in and see how the plan is developing. They can also participate to two scheduled formal presentations.
